the seizure of KirRpatrick's distillery at Chattanooga, Tenn., with 300 barrels of spirits, for violating the revenue laws.

R. Butler, of Tennessee, on the same charge.

THE NAVAL WRANGLE .- The House Committee on Naval Affairs this morning resumed the consideration of the line and staff question, and talked over various provisions of the bill. The committee so far have determined to give positive rank to all staff officers, though such rank is not to carry command with it in any instance. but will be precisely similar to the staff and line rank in the army. The committee is now en gaged in revising the pay table of the Navy, and exceeding one hundred thousand dollars. will cut off all commutations for rations, fuel. &c., and fix a definite salary for all officers, of both line and staff, dropping off all per centage, commutations, &c.

THE WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT of the London News was pleased with the treatment accorded to Prince Arthur in Washington. Referring to the reception at General Sherman's. the writer says:-"I was particularly struck with the well-bred air displayed by those present in regard to the distinguished visitor. While the euriosity to see him was not disguised, there was a total absence of any of that pushing and scrambling which, I am sorry to say, may often be seen in Europe among persons who ought to know a great deal better. Nothing could be nicer than the Prince's carriage and bearing. His manner was courteous, dignified, and grace-

INFLATION GETS A BLACK EYE IN THE SEN-ATE .- Mr. Williams to-day offered the following resolution in the Senate, which was agreed to: Resolved, That to add to to the present irredeemable paper currency of the country would be to render more difficult and remote the resumption of specie payments; to encourage and foster the spirit of speculation; to aggravate the evils produced by frequent and sudden fluctuations of values; to depreciate the credit of the nation, and to check the healthful tendency of legitimate business to settle down on a safe and permanent basis, and therefore, in the opinion of the Senate the existing volume of such currency ought not to be increased.

Legislature yesterday, Mr. Maddox, from the committee appointed to invite President Grant, the members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme Court, the Diplomatic Corps, and others, to visit the Senate and House of Delegates during an expected visit to Annapolis, reported that President Grant informed him that the pressure of public business was so great that it would be impossible for him to leave Washington before Wednesday, when, he feared, the Monarch would have left Annapolis. Vice President Colfax and Speaker Blaine were notified of the action of the Legislature, but had not replied, owing to the many members of both Houses to be consulted. Baron Gerolt promised to notify the other members of the Diplomatic Corps of the action of the Legislature.

State dinner at the Executive Mansion last evening, like the preceding ones, was a brilliant affair. The President occupied his usual seat at the center of the table, on the north side, with Mrs. Grant directly opposite. On either side of the President were seated Mrs. Senator Sherman and Mrs. Senator Kellogg. Besides these ladies, there were seated on the north Senator Gilbert, Mrs. Rice, Hon. Mr. Blair, Hon. Mr. Armstrong, Mrs. Fisher, Hon. Mr. Hale, Senator Stockton, Mrs. Armstrong, Hon. Mr. Judd, Hon. Mr. Ferry, Mrs. Buck and Mr. Grinnell. Mrs. Grant was supported on either side by Senator Sherman and Senator Kellogg. On the same side of the table was seated Mrs Gilbert, Senator Rice, Hon. Mr. Fisher, Mrs. Buffinton, Mr. Prosser, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Buck, Hon. Mr. Buffinton, Hon. Mr. Allison, Mrs. Judd, Senator Nye, and Mrs. Stockton. At either end of the table sat Hon. Mr. Strong. Mrs. Coleman, Hon. Mr. Trimble, Hon. Mr. Coleman, Mrs. Strong, and Hon. Mr. Townsend. The company rose about nine o'clock.

SOCIETY IN WASHINGTON .- The reception of General and Mrs. A. J. Myer, at their residence. No. 1813 F street, last evening, was among the most brilliant of the season, both in point of numbers and the distinguished character of the guests. By the appointed hour (9% o'clock) the guests commenced to arrive, and soon the par-lors, halls, and dressing rooms were crowded. In the rear of the parlors, which were given up to Terpsichorean uses, a platform had been erected and festooned with flags, for the use of Weber's band. Among the guests were Gen'l George B. McClellan, Secretaries Boutwell, Belknap and Robeson, (the latter having with him Capt. Commercil, of the "Monarch,") Gen. him Capt. Commerell, of the "Monarch,") Gen. Marcy and ladies, Admiral Davis, Commodore Rawlden, Senators Edwards, Howe, Williams, and Spencer, Gen. Thomas, Gen. Woodruff, Gen. Ramsey and lady, Hon. William B. Webb, Gen. Hunter and niece, Surgeon General Barnes and lady, Gen. Michler, Gen. Ricketts and ladies, Commodore Huff. Capt. Cutts, Col. Woodruff, Col. Curtis and lady, Mr. and Mrs. Solomons, Gen. Butler, wife, and daughter, Hon. Peter Parker, Mr. Philp, Dr. Maxwell, U. S. Navy, Col. J. W. Forney, Col. Casey, Judge Holt, Dr. Col. J. W. Forney, Col. Casey, Judge Holt, Dr. Norris, U. S. Navy, Col. Fletcher, and others. There were over two hundred persons present, and in fact the jam was so great that dancing was entirely abandoned long before the supper hour, (11 o'clock.) when General Myer and Mrs. Belknap led the way to a most sumptuous repast. When Captain Commerell, escorted by Secretary Robeson, entered the dancing hall the band struck up "God Save the Queen," and the Captain was at once the observed of all observers. In fact, he and General McClellan were the lions of the evening, and the introduc-tion and interchange of courtesies between the two was most cordial.

SURVEY OF TOWNSHIPS ON THE LINE OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD .- Commissioner Wilson, of the General Land Office, is in receipt of advices from the Surveyor General at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, showing the completion of the survey of the exterior limits of twenty-six townships along the line of the Union Pacific railroad, in the Valley of Lodge Pole Creek, and approach-ing the western and southern boundaries of the State, and embracing an aggregate area of 557,640 acres. This tract is generally rolling prairies, with a first and second rate soil.

WITHDRAWAL OF MONTANA LANDS .- Commissioner Wilson, of the General Land Office, has issued instructions to the United States Surveyor General at Helena, Montana, to withdraw the lands reserved by the President of the United States at Fort Shaw, in Lewis and Clark counties, Montana, on the 11th January last. his reservation embraces forty-six square miles, and is situated on Sun river, an affluent of the Missouri river from the west, just below the great falls, fifty miles above Fort Benton.

THE UNITED AID ASSOCIATION .- Mr. Wilson introduced in the Senate to-day a bill, which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia, incorporating the United Aid Association of the District of Columbia, the object of which is to be the establishment of a enevolent institution for the relief of the sick and burial of its deceased members, and naming as corporators Messrs. W. H. Wheeler, John S. Butler, John W. Smith, Wm. H. Wilson, George W. Barnes, Henry Burrell, John N. Doster, Dad Warner, Isaiah Bouldin, John H. Digges Thomas H. Evans, Charles Herbert, John T. Mathews, Wm. H. Cole, and Ambros: Queen.

THE ISLAND INSTITUTE .- Mr. Wilson to-day ntroduced in the Senate a bill, which was eferred to the District Committee, incorpoating the "Island Institute of Washington, D. .," the object of which shall be the establishment and maintenance of an Industrial Evening and Sunday School for the benefit of persons who have no other means of instruction, and The following are named as corporators:—J. FROM THE CHINESE SEAS .- Everything Reported Quiet There-Only the Murder of a Missionary Now and Then-The French Admiral Objects to the Murder of French Missionaries .- Rear Admiral S. C. Rowan, commanding Asiatic Squadron, informs the Navy Department that affairs on his station are very satisfactory. On the 4th of January he was at Hong Kong in the Delaware, his flagship. He says peace and quietness now appear to be the rule, with an occasional exception, such as the depredations of pirates on the coasting junks and other petty piracies in the river on smaller boats, and the murder of a missionary now and

The new French Admiral had left Hong Kong with his squadron for the purpose of demanding satisfaction for the murder of a French Catholic missionary by the Chinese in Seclynan. There were in port at Hong Kong an Austrian. Prussian and Italian corvette. The health of the squadron was good. The general orders from the Department to do honor to the memories of the late Secretary of War, ex-President Pierce and Rear Admiral Stewart were carried out as prescribed, and joined in by the English. Italian, North German and Austrian vessels by half-masting their colors, and in the case of ex-President Pierce the senior officer's ship fired twenty-one minute guns at noon.

THE SALE OF CADETSHIPS .- In the House this morning, immediately after the reading of the Journal, Mr. Whittemore, the member from South Carolina, who sold his cadetship, arose and addressed the Speaker.

Speaker Blaine declined to recognize the gen-tleman, and laid before the House the resigna-tion of Mr. Whittemore as a member, and the acceptance of the same by the Governor of South Carolina, stating that it was for the House to determine if the gentleman should proceed. A lengthy debate ensued upon points of order, &c., participated in by Messrs. Logan, Butler, Bingham, Farnsworth and others.

General Logan held the floor, and declined to yield to any one until the House should declare whether a vote should be taken on the resolution reported by the Committee. Some held that the resignation was not valid until the House had acceded to it, and others that it was implied the House had accepted it.

Messrs. Dawes, Banks and others contended for the former view, while the Speaker held to the latter, and was sustained by the House. Unanimous consent was asked for Whittemore to proceed, but was refused by the House. The resolution of the Military Committee was then laid on the table, and Mr. Logan imme-diately offered a resolution declaring that Whittemore had disposed of his cadetships for a pecuniary consideration, and was therefore unworthy to occupy a seat in the House; which was adopted unanimously-185 members voting

Gen. Butler of course did not vote, having announced his intention not to vote on the ques Whittemore left the Hall, and his seat on the center was taken by Gen. Farnsworth. Several members, when the yea and nay list was called, failed to answer to their names. The galleries were densely crowded long before the House met.

THE BALL OF THE 22D AT MASONIC TEMPLE .-We omitted, in our report of yesterday, to give the names of the subscribers under whose auspices this magnificent affair was held, which we do now, in order that the community may know to whom the National Capital is indebted for this highly creditable celebration of a day sacred in the annals of history. We may remark, also, that the entire affair was gotten up in seven days, the expedition and completeness with which it was managed contrasting favorably with any entertainment ever given here or elsewhere. Special credit is due to Messrs. W. S. Huntington, the ubiquitous Chairman of the Supper and Police Committees; to Mr. A. S. S Chairman of the Invitation Committee; Mr Lewis J. Davis, Treasurer and Floor Manager; to Messrs. F. Philp, H. Semken, G. W. Cochran, and other "bon vivants" who made the supper room a speciality; to Messrs. Baldwin, Cluss, and McIlhenny, under whose special care the decorations and mechanical appliances were made. The successful managers of this fete is in marked contrast with the gigantic failure of March 4th, known as the Inauguration Ball, in marked contrast with the gigantic failure of March 4th, known as the Inauguration Ball, and suggests the propriety of allowing the citizens henceforth to manage all such affairs in preference to putting it into the hands of inexperienced persons, simply because they occupy political position. ## FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS. This Afternoon's Proceedings.

THURSDAY, February 24. SENATE .- The Senate bill for the removal of political disabilities, as returned by the House with amendments, in the form of additiona names, was read, when the amendments of the House were concurred in.

Mr. Drake, from Committee on Naval Affairs, reported bill for the relief of Mrs. E. Gray Ste-Mr. Howe, from Committee on the Library, reported in favor of indefinite postponement of joint resolution to provide for the purchase of a portrait of the late President Lincoln, by John

Mr. Cameron presented resolutions of the Common Council of Philadelphia in reference to the centennial celebration of the Declaration of Independence, which were laid on the table. Mr. Wilson introduced bill to incorporate the Island Institute of Washington. Referred to Committee on District of Columbia. Also, bill to incorporate the United Aid Association of Washington. Mr. Stewart introduced bill to provide a school of mines. Referred to Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. Pomeroy introduced bill to provide for the disposal of the great and little Osage reservations in Kansas, and to provide for the removal of the Osage Indians to the Indian Ter-

mr. Harlan suggested that it lie on the table, as the Committee on Indian Affairs had already matured a bill on the subject, and it was accordingly laid on the table.

Mr. Saulsbury offered a resolution requesting the President to communicate whether a commission as Provisional Governor of Mississippi has a provisional Governor of Mississippi has a provisional form.

has ever been issued to Gen. Ames, and if not, by what authority the said Gen. Ames has been acting as said Provisional Governor. Mr. Edmn is objected to its present ion, and accordingly went over. Mr. Stewart moved to take up bill to secure to all persons the equal protection of the laws, on which Mr. Hamilton demanded the aves and 1 ays, when it was taken up by ayes 49, nays 9.

Mr. Stewart stated that the only object of the bill was to extend to allens the protection of our Discussion occurred on the bill, and the morning hour expiring, it was laid over at the sug-gestion of Mr. Sherman. Mr. Patterson, of New Hampshire, desiring to make a speech on the finances before leaving for home, the Funding bill was informally considered to be before the Senate to afford him the opportunity. Mr. P. then read from manuscript an argument upon finances. In regard to the National Banking System, he said it gave great advantage to capitalists, that it played into the handof the gigantic stock gamblers. He formed a system of free banking based upon bonds drawing the least possible rate of interest. The views of the Secretary of the Treasury were entitled to great consideration, but did not alto-gether meet his approval. He counseled a more rigid system of economy in the public expenditnges—that the army and navy and civil service should be reduced. He did not believe that the conservatism of debt was a restraint upon the extravagance of a nation; under its pressure, rather, a people may become reckless of their good name. He knew our people would faithfully pay the debt incurred to crush treason but it should not be paid in such a manner as to arrest the material development of the country. Mr. Fenton said great national resources are the first and most obvious elements of strength but the subtle and sensitive power of public credit is hardly less essential. No nation can be exempt from the necessity of borrowing, and public credit is no less essential in peace than in war. Great Britain, by the faithful fulfillment cent. We are paying 6 per cent.; but if our credit was what it.

HOUSE .- The House galleries were crowded about 11 o'clock this morning. After the reading of the journal the regular order was demanded, and Mr. Whittemore arose to make a speech in his defence. He had not proceeded far when Speaker Blaine called him to order, and announced to the House that he had just received Mr. Whittemore's resignation as rep-resentative from the first district of South Carolina. He also had the acceptance of Governor Scott. In view of the fact he could not recognize Mr. Whittemore as a member of the Hou and it was for the House to determine whether he should be permitted to proceed.

Mr. Logan, who held the floor as chairman of the Military Committee, was appealed to to yield to Mr. Whittemore; but he declined to do so unless the House would first determine whether it would vote upon the resolution reported from the Military Committee. If the House would consider the resignation as in proper form then there was no necessity for pas resolution of expulsion, and no occasion for Mr. Whittemore to be heard. If the House would determine to vote upon the question he would

Mr. Eldridge (Wis.) made the point of order that the resignation before the House was not in proper form, as there was no proof of the Governor's acceptance except by telegraph. The Speaker overruled the point of order. Resignation was a voluntary act, and the House had sufficient evidence that Mr. Whittemore had resigned. Mr. Butler (Mass.) made the point of order that if Mr. Whittemore was not a member to speak, he was not a member to be expelled, and that all further proceedings and discussions on this point were out of order. The Speaker overruled the point of order, as it was for the House to determine the nature of resolutions to be voted on. Mr. Bingham (Ohio) called the attention of the House to precedents. He showed that it had been the custom to accept resignation when resolutions were pending for the expulsion of members. In the case of Matteson his resigna-tion was accepted and the resolution for expulsion was laid upon the table while he was al-lowed to speak and resolutions of censure were passed it was competent for the House to allow Mr. Whittemore to speak by unanimous consent, and the House could then adopt whatever action it pleased with regard to the pend-Mr. Banks (Mass.) contended that a member could not resign without the assent of the House thereto To determine otherwise would be to establish a very unwise and unsafe prec The very constitution of this body, he con-tended, required its assent to the resignation of a members. The House would therefore avoid difficulty by allowing the gentleman to speak and determining upon the resolution afterwards. The Speaker stated that the custom of the House had been different from that stated by Mr. Banks. The consent of the House to a member's resignation was always implied.

Mr. Banks reiterated that the consent of the House was necessary. If otherwise, the char-House was necessary. If otherwise, the character of the organization of the House would be destroyed.

Mr. Dawes (Mass.) was disposed to take a view similar to that taken by Mr. Banks. He thought this was a dangerous precedent to establish. If the member who was subject to the punishment of the House could always escape by this sort of resignation, then the House would have no control over its members. The implied assent of the House to resignation was not recognized by any parliamentary rule or law, although it had grown to be a custom, but he thought the custom was a bad one.

though it had grown to be a custom, but he thought the custom was a bad one.

In order to arrive at a vote in some form, Mr. Farmsworth (Ill.) appealed from the decision of the Chair that the acceptance of a resignation of a member of the House was always implied.

Mr. Cox (N. Y.) moved to lay the appeal on the table; which motion was agreed to.

This virtually declared Mr. Whittemore not a member of the House, and not subject to any further action. further action. The resolution for expulsion was therefore laid upon the table. upon the table.

Mr. Logan immediately, as a question of privilege, offered a resolution declaring that B. F. Whittemore had made appointments of cadets in violation of law; that he was influenced to do so by improper considerations, and that his conduct is therefore condemned, and he is unworthy to be a member of this House.

The previous question was demanded and a nanimously, 185 members being present and Mr. Whittemore immediately left the hall.

STATE DUDGETTE

Mr. Swann (Md.) presented the petition of Chesnut, Townsend & Co., Freeland, Hall & Co., and twenty other firms of Baltimore, for a reduction of the tariff on salt. Referred to Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Stone (Md.) presented the petition of Wm. Hulbard, of Annappolis, a soldier of 1812, for a pension. Referred to Committee on Pensions. On motion of Mr. Dawes, (Mass..) the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill, the question being upon the amendment proposed by Mr. Kelly, (Pa.,) appropriating $1,600 for an Assistant Chemist of the Agricultural Bureau. Mr. Dawes withdrew his opposition, and the amendment was agreed to. The paragraph was further amended by providing for three female copyists at $900, in-stead of three copyists at $1,000. Mr. Boyd (Mo.) moved to strike out the paragraph appropriating $15,000 for collecting statistics and compiling and writing matter for monthly, annual and special reports. Not agreed to, only nine gentlemen voting in the affirmative. Mr. Maynard moved to increase the appropriation for the purchase of seeds from $25,000 to ation for the purchase of seeds from $25,000 to $40,000. Not agreed to.

Mr. Johnson (Cal.) moved to strike out the entire paragraph. Not agreed to.

Mr. Johnson (Cal.) offered as an amendment a proviso that the sums appropriated for seeds, bags, statistics, paper, twine, and gum shall not be used if the franking privilege is abolished before July 1, 1870. Not agreed to.

THE MISSING STEAMSHIP .- Intense anxiety is felt with regard to the fate of the City of Boston. As already stated, she left New York four weeks since, and passed Halitax three days af-terwards, since which time nothing has been heard of her. The New York Times states that all the great transatlantic lines have their own

" The Inman track, after leaving Cape Race, curves considerably towards the north, and runs is higher latitude than any other of the main sea-tracks, except that of the Glasgow steamers. The City of Boston, if disabled, whether by accident to her machinery, or by a gale, would be in a part of the Atlantic whence escape would be very slow. At this season of the year the Gulf Stream, as is well known, crosses the ocean at a lower parallel of latitude than in summer; its northern edge being, according to Maury and others, 500 miles south of the Inman track. The disabled ship, therefore, would probably be in a part of the sea where she would find but little f any current to drift her either towards the Irish coast or towards the Azores. The winds of the North Atlantic are sharply to the west, south of the Inman track; and if the City of Boston were on the Brest or Bremen route, under ordinary circumstances, with neither steam, sail, nor helm, she might, in a few weeks, float safely to the Azores."

sail, nor heim, she might, in a few weeks, float safely to the Azores."

But in consequence of the high latitude followed by her master, "she is now probably out of the drift or eastward recurvation of the Guiff Stream washing these Western islands. The indications, both in Europe and here, are strongly in support of the belief that the usually westerly winds are here. winds have been confiderably modified during the past winter, and the steamship thus sub-jected to still greater delay."

The loss of the San Francisco, a few years since, is referred to, as providing that, suppos-ing the missing steamer to be helpless, she may be out yet forty days before she can reach the coast of Europe, and nearly as long drifting to the Azores.

The Atlantic, of the Collins line, 'too, "becoming disabled and uncontrollable by accident when a few days out from Newfoundland, was nearly sixty days in drifting to these islands. It is deemed not improbable that she is moving to-wards the Bay of Biscay, and it may not be too late for the Inman Company to telegraph for vessels to be dispatched in search of her there and elsewhere."

sively pictured and described in the New York papers of Saturday, heralding the formation of a company to construct a pneumatic tube for the transmission of freight by means of hollow spheres. It is claimed that the products of the country can be transported to and from all parts country in a few hours instead of days, and at a trifling cost. The new vehicle requires a perfect road-bed or track on which to operate a perfect road-bed or track on which to operate. This road-bed has been prepared by the invention of the pneumatic tube. On the bottom a metallic plate will be laid, slightly concave, to adapt it to the convexity of the sphere. The hollow globes, in which freight is to placed, will be propelled by the exhaustion of air from the other end of the tube, worked by an air-pump. As soon as air enough is drawn out of the tube to destroy its couldbrium, the current strikes the sphere and carries it to its destination. The the sphere and carries it to its destination. The pressure on a sphere six teet in diameter, under a complete exhaustion, would be about firty-two thousand pounds. When the spheres are once in motion, a pressure of less than one hundred pounds will propel them as rapidly as required. It is claimed that a velocity of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred miles an hour can be attained. The tubes can be placed over or under ground. It is proposed to make them of wood—of narrow plank, tongued and grooved, the joints cemented. It is estimated by the originator that a line of tubes, eight feet in diameter, can be built for about $10,000 a mile, the right of way not included.

THE PRINCE OF WALES AND LADY MORDAUNT-A Curious Affair.-The Prince of Wales was called to the stand yesterday in the Mordaunt divorce case in London. Some of his Mordaunt divorce case in London. Some of his letters to Lady Mordaunt having been published. Lord Pensonel pointed out that no witness was bound to make answer to any question which would admit that he had been guilty of adultery. The Prince testified that he was acquainted with Lady Mordaunt previous to her marriage, and made her wedding presents before her marriage. She visited the Princess at Marleborough House. She visited the theatre in company with the Prince and Princess. He saw her often in 1866 and 1867. He had frequent saw her often in 1866 and 1867. He had frequently met Sir Charles in company with Lady Mordaunt. In June, 1867, he met Sir Charles at a pigeon match, on which occasion Lady Mor-daunt scored for both sides, and he spoke to her in the course of the match. The Prince admit-ted that he occasionally used Hausom cabs. He solemnly asserted there had never been any improper or criminal intimacy between himself and Lady Mordaunt. This declaration was received by the great crowd of spectators with cheers, which the court endeavored to repress, but which were renewed. The bench expressed much royal indignation at the publication by the public journals of the letters of the Prince to Lady Mordanne. Lady Mordaunt.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET .- The New York Independent of this week says: There has been quite as active a market for domestic and foreign fabrics during the past week as could have been expected at this season, and the indications of a good healthy spring business are very encouraging. The only discouraging element is the low-rise of miny discouraging element is the low price of grain and breadstuffs, which may prevent the Western farmer from selling, and, to a certain extent, curtail the means for purchasing by the merchants. But, with a superabundance of grain on hand, the West is not likely to deprive itself of anything in the shape of dry goods, or anything else necessary to its personal comfort. The market is very abundantly supplied with every description of goods, though not everyteeked. tion of goods, though not overstocked, except in certain styles of unbleached cottons, of which holders do not feel any anxiety to make special sales. There is a constant shrinkage in the price of the raw material, which will necessarily prevent any increase in the values of domesti cottons. The crop of 1829 is now conceded to be fully up to 3,000,000 bales, and the price is tending toward lower rates. It is not unlikely that good buyers may be able to lay in their supplies of standard goods at something less than the price quoted as ruling to the trade.

JUDGE INGRAHAM to-day passed sentence upon two murderers. John Reynolds was sen-tenced by him to death on the 8th of April next, with the remark that there was not the slightest excuse for the deed he had committed, and for which the forfeiture of his life was to be the penalty. Michael Mead, arraigned for the murder of his mother by kicking her to death, was condemned to seven years' hard labor in the State prison. There was a very large crowd of people in the court room, and also many assembled outside in the street, while sentence was being pronounced. Reynolds remained the same stupid-looking person that he has been throughout the trial—the fact that hanging for murder is not played out in New York seeming to have but little effect on him. Mead, who is a most repulsive-looking fellow, with a thick growth of red beard upon his brutal face, seemed greatly relieved when he knew his sentence, which is not one-half as severe as his case merited.—New York Express, 23d. with the remark that there was not the slightest

A VERMONT WOMAN recently died of injuries received by a fall on the ice, as was supposed. A post mortem examination of the body revealed the curlous fact, however, that her lungs were ossified; that is, portions thereof were converted inlo bone. There was a great number of small bones, the longest about an inch in length, and varying in size and shape. There is no similar case on record. Other organs of the human body have been known to ossify, but not the lungs. Ossification of the heart has gotten to be not an uncommon occurrence, and the tissues lungs. Ossincation of the heart has gotten to be not an uncommon occurrence, and the tissues have been known to assume an osseous condition. This Vermont case should be carefully investigated. A strict an able investigation might lead to disclosures of immense importance to the human family.
